To the Right Worſhipful

Sir Tho. Fitch,

OF

Eltham and Mount-Maſcall in Kent,

Knight.

Worthy Sir,

IN this Age no Book is publiſhed without its Patron, and in the Epiſtle Dedicatory men ſtudy as much for Encomiums as the Book it ſelf. I have as much room for Praiſe as any one ever had, and as large a field to walk in. Sir, Your Generous nerous Spirit hath ever aimed at a Publick good; You have a high eſteem amongſt all Men, even from him that ſits on the Throne, to him that moveth in the loweſt Orb. Many admire You, and moſt love and honour You; His MAJESTY hath ſet a peculiar mark of his Kindneſs upon You, and there is none that knows You, but knows how juſtly You have merited His Royal Favours. Sir, You are generally beloved for Your Generous and Noble Actions, for Your Generous and Noble Inclinations, and for Your Generous and Noble Principles, ſo that I cannot but receive Commendations for ſelecting You to the Patronage of this Work. Sir, If You pardon this my Ambition, I have my ſatisfaction, and can be no better contented than in that, and in being ſtyled, Sir,

Your Worſhips moſt humble Servant,

RICHARD BLOME.
